

Half day seminar: Habitat protection in Northern Ireland, and the wider UK context, and recent infraction threats

Monday October 15th 2012

Venue: Law Society House, 96 Victoria Street, Belfast, BT1 3GN

Fourth in the annual series of half day seminars run by the UK Environmental Law Association, in partnership with EPLANI, in Northern Ireland. This special event focusing on Habitats Protection is for environmental lawyers, government advisers, NGOs, academics, local authorities, business and students.

Registration from 1.30pm with speakers from 2pm
Tea break at the half way point

Chair:

Prof Sharon Turner, Chair of Environmental Law, Queens University Belfast

Speakers:

- Diane Stevenson, Assistant Director, with responsibility for Habitat Conservation, Designation and Protection Northern Ireland Environment Agency - NIEA's roles and challenges in delivering habitat protection in Northern Ireland
- Heather Thompson, Regional Director National Trust for Northern Ireland – Habitat Protection from an NGO perspective
- Ciara Brennan, QUB – The handling of habitat crime in Northern Ireland
- James Maurici, Landmark Chambers – case law update

Finish with drinks and nibbles at 5.15pm.

Fees:

UKELA and EPLANI members £30; non-members £40; NGOs and low waged £15; students – 1st 10 free, then £5

Bookings: to book please click here.

